After an extensive preparation which has covered a period of months, and with more than a dozen committees working to make it a success in the eyes of the thousands of tourists and townsmen, the 1913 Mid-Pacific Carnival commenced today. In his final report to the promotion committee this morning, Director-General Chillingworth announced that all was in readiness.

The publicity which has been given the carnival on the mainland through the efforts of the promotion committee and a number of individual boosters, has resulted in more than two thousand tourists arriving in Honolulu since the first of the year, perhaps the largest number ever assembled here for one particular attraction. A glance at the various events on the program for the week's celebration, and the enthusiasm with which the different committees have been working to make these events remain unequalled, is sufficient to uphold the assurance that the tourists will leave with a more than favorable impression of Honolulu and the Hawaiian Islands imbedded in their memories.

Under the auspices of the ladies of the Coast Artillery Corps of Oahu, the first event of the carnival commenced this afternoon at Kapiolani park at two o'clock. This event is in the form of a garden fete, and is being run on a much enlarged plan, the proceeds of which are to be devoted to the aid of destitute widows of army men. Mrs. Edward Timberlake, of the coast artillery, is in charge of the affair and the flower and beauty of the army have been called to act as her assistants. A number of tastefully decorated booths have been arranged which will be presided over by a bevy of the pretty girls of the younger set and also a number of prominent society matrons. Princess Kawannakoa has offered her assistance and it is expected that Her Majesty, Queen Liliuokalani will be in attendance. The admission to the grounds is twenty-five cents.

This evening, beginning at eight o'clock, "The Tourist," the local production under the direction of D. William Douthitt, will be presented at the Hawaiian Opera House for the first time. Local in every respect, with the patter and a number of catchy songs written by local people, the production bids fair to outdo any past attempts of Honoluluans to stage

Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Wood, and Miss Gilmore.

Near the home of the keeper of the park, Mrs. Macomb and Mrs. Cowles serve refreshing drinks.

Nearly all of the young girls who visited the park round their way to the fortune-telling booth. This is arranged as an Egyptian tent and a large black cat perched on the top of the entrance. The interior of the booth is hung with Egyptian tapestries and the fortune-teller dressed as a gypsy, is decorated with the snakes and charms that helped her disclose the future.

an amateur performance. The performance will be repeated on Thursday and Friday evenings.

Perhaps the largest and most interesting event of the entire Carnival will be the spectacle of the "Landing of King Kamehameha the Great" at Waikiki, which is to take place Friday morning beginning at 10 o'clock. The spectacle is to be staged in the sand stretch of the Outrigger club between the Moana and the Seaside hotels. According to the present arrangements, which have nearly been completed, there will be more than fifty canoes in the flotilla of the great king, and from 350 to 400 Hawaiians will participate in the event. There will also be a religious hula as a part of the program. Upon a suggestion made to him some time ago, Director-General Chillingworth has announced that it will be only fair to give the visiting tourists seats in the front rank of the spectators. There will be a number of seats on the lawn of the Seaside, and these will be reserved

Miss Louise McCarthy, who gives exhibitions of five fancy dances, is wearing costumes suitable to each dance.

The athletic booth also attracts a large crowd. Miss Dorothy Wood and Miss Myrtle Schuman, dressed as co-eds, with white skirts and college sweaters, have all they can do to wait on the young people who want to buy athletic goods, pennants and posters.

Mrs. George E. Turner, dressed as a little girl, sells dolls, picture books and all sorts of toys for little girls and boys.

"Tom, the Piper's Son" is very much in evidence and while his pig creates a bit of confusion he expects to succeed in raffling it.

Exquisite flowers and ferns are sold by Mrs. Edward Carpenter in a booth attractively arranged. She is assisted by a bevy of local society girls.

The cigarette booth, where Mrs. Appleton and Mrs. Statton, as Spanish señoritas sold "smokes," is one of the most attractive on the grounds. Two huge cigarettes are placed back of the ladies and flags used in abundance.

Lace, embroidery, and various odds and ends are sold at one booth.

All sorts of articles were raffled in the booths.

To Mrs. E. J. Timberlake, who arranged the whole affair, a great deal of credit should be given. She planned nearly all of the booths and assisted the different ladies in carrying out these plans.

sports at Waikiki in the afternoon.

On Friday evening at 7 o'clock, "Roaring Camp," the city of '49, which will be run under the auspices of the Elks, will be opened at Bishop square. Already the stockade which will enclose the "city" has been erected, and a number of the buildings are going up. A scenic artist commenced work yesterday noon in transforming the structures into real log cabins with clapboard roofs, and when this work is completed, the entire square will have been transformed into a real mining camp town similar to those in California during the time of the gold rush in '49. United States currency will not be tolerated as a medium of exchange, but for one dollar in Uncle Sam's money, one may purchase one hundred dollars in Roaring Camp greenbacks and shiplasters. Such attractions as "Red" George's dance hall, the temple of fortune, the banks, "Alkali" Ike's thirst parlor, and numerous others, will be in evidence. This feature will continue both Friday and Saturday nights.

The military parade will be held Saturday morning commencing at a quarter-past nine o'clock, and will be reviewed by Governor Frazier. The Fourth Cavalry, the Second Infantry, a battalion of Coast Artillery and a company of engineers, and the First Field Artillery will be in line in company with the national guard and the Kamehameha cadets. The review by the governor will take place in front of the McKinley High School, where General Macomb and staff will be assembled. The reviewing stand will be for the use of the military people who are issuing the invitations which are to be given. It has also been planned to have as many school children out as possible on that day. These will be massed around Thomas square and each will be provided with an American flag.

The Floral Parade, the crowning event of the week's festivities, will be held on the afternoon of Saturday, February 22. The entries will assemble in the capital grounds, and, after passing along the usual route through the business section of the city, the parade will proceed along Beretania street, where it will pass in front of the reviewing stand. The entries in the parade this year exceed in number and possibly in decoration the ones of former years. There will be nearly fifty automobiles in one section and from thirty to thirty-five horse-drawn floats, in another. A la'e, but welcome, addition to the line will be the Japanese 800 in new uniforms. The Japanese parent of the samurai will again be a feature. There are to be numerous other sections such as the bicycle, motorcycle and marching.

Kauai's Princess For 1913 Floral Parade

MIDWINTER FIESTA TO CULMINATE ON SATURDAY

The Island Princess division will be made up of the beauty of the islands and should attract considerable attention. For Oahu, Miss Annalie Munda will ride; for Hawaii, Miss Wilhelmina Weight; for Kauai, Miss Virginia Silva; for Maui, Mrs. Hannah Morton; for Molokai, Miss Mahoe. The riders will be attended by a number of heralds and outriders, and later by a section of pa-u riders.

One of the features of the parade will be the float which will be entered by the public schools of Oahu, typifying "Education of the Heart, the Head, and the Hand." Willis T. Pope, superintendent of public instruction, announced this morning that the float was nearly completed, as was also the float which is to be entered by the Normal School. The feature showing "Education of the Hand" will be shown by pupils working in the garden, carpentering, sewing and cooking. "Education of the Heart" will be shown by pupils engaged in caring for children, pets and flowers. "Education of the Head" will be represented by pupils studying in the open-air schoolroom, guided by their teacher.

The Normal School float will be a reproduction of the coming of the Princess Pili to wed Umi, king of Hawaii. The princess will be decked with a feather mantle and will sit on the platform of a double canoe. Above her are the tabu sticks and her attendants will carry tall, red kahilis. The rowers will wear red tunics, capes and the musicians tape skirts and leis. The mele on this occasion will be sung by the Normal School girls and is an ancient one dedicated to Umi of Lialoa.

The physical department of the Young Men's Christian association will also enter an interesting float.

Miss Virginia Silva, of Waiman, Kauai, the darling equestrienne who will represent the Garden Isle in the Floral Parade.

which will be a representation of the different forms of athletics which take place every day in the association. This will be the association's first float since the opening of the new building.

Following the review at the McKinley High School the parade will proceed to Alexander Field, where the prizes will be awarded the winners. Saturday evening "Roaring Camp" will be running in full blast, and will be the closing event of the Carnival week. During the evening the 1913 model Buick car will be given to the person holding the winning number.
